Additional warranty years can be purchased. George J talked about his experience. He waits until just before 12,000 miles or 1 year and then buys additional 7 years (can be less or more years) since the original warranty is bumper to bumper. Barry L told about buying an air filter for the ZR1, it sucks too much air and causes a problem. It is a factory approved filter, but the dealer is having difficulty fixing the problem. Looks like software is needed for car to accept part.
